Introduction - Grade 4 English-Language Arts

The following released test questions are taken from the Grade 4 English-Language Arts Standards Test. This test is one of the California Standards Tests administered as part of the Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) Program under policies set by the State Board of Education.

All questions on the California Standards Tests are evaluated by committees of content experts, including teachers and administrators, to ensure their appropriateness for measuring the California academic content standards in Grade 4 English-Language Arts. In addition to content, all items are reviewed and approved to ensure their adherence to the principles of fairness and to ensure no bias exists with respect to characteristics such as gender, ethnicity, and language.

This document contains released test questions from the California Standards Test forms in 2003, 2004, and 2005. First on the pages that follow are lists of the standards assessed on the Grade 4 English-Language Arts Test. Next are released passages and test questions. Following the questions is a table that gives the correct answer for each question, the content standard that each question is measuring, and the year each question last appeared on the test.

The following table lists each strand/reporting cluster, the number of items that appear on the exam, and the number of released test questions that appear in this document.

In selecting test questions for release, three criteria are used: (1) the questions adequately cover a selection of the academic content standards assessed on the Grade 4 English-Language Arts Test; (2) the questions demonstrate a range of difficulty; and (3) the questions present a variety of ways standards can be assessed. These released test questions do not reflect all of the ways the standards may be assessed. Released test questions will not appear on future tests.

These questions represent only some ways in which these standards may be assessed on the Grade 4 California English-Language Arts Standards Test.

| 4RC2.0  | READING COMPREHENSION: Students read and understand grade-level-appropriate material. They draw upon a variety of comprehension strategies as needed (e.g., generating and responding to essential questions, making predictions, comparing information from several sources). The selections in Recommended Readings in Literature, Kindergarten Through Grade Eight illustrate the quality and complexity of the materials to be read by students. In addition to their regular school reading, students read one-half million words annually, including a good representation of grade-level-appropriate narrative and expository text (e.g., classic and contemporary literature, magazines, newspapers, online information).
| 4RC2.1  | Structural Features of Informational Materials: Identify structural patterns found in informational text (e.g., compare and contrast, cause and effect, sequential or chronological order, proposition and support) to strengthen comprehension.
| 4RC2.3  | Comprehension and Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Make and confirm predictions about text by using prior knowledge and ideas presented in the text itself, including illustrations, titles, topic sentences, important words, and foreshadowing clues.
| 4RC2.4  | Comprehension and Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Evaluate new information and hypotheses by testing them against known information and ideas.
| 4RC2.5  | Comprehension and Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Compare and contrast information on the same topic after reading several passages or articles.
| 4RC2.6  | Comprehension and Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Distinguish between cause and effect and between fact and opinion in expository text.
| 4RC2.7  | Comprehension and Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Follow multiple-step instructions in a basic technical manual (e.g., how to use computer commands or video games).
The Literary Response and Analysis Strand/Cluster

The following five California English-Language Arts content standards are included in the Literary Response and Analysis strand/cluster and are represented in this booklet by seven test questions for grade 4. These questions represent only some ways in which these standards may be assessed on the Grade 4 California English-Language Arts Standards Test.

4RL3.1 Structural Features of Literature: Describe the structural differences of various imaginative forms of literature, including fantasies, fables, myths, legends, and fairy tales.

4RL3.2 Narrative Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Identify the main events of the plot, their causes, and the influence of each event on future actions.

4RL3.3 Narrative Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Use knowledge of the situation and setting and of a character’s traits and motivations to determine the causes for that character’s actions.

4RL3.4 Narrative Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Compare and contrast tales from different cultures by tracing the exploits of one character type and develop theories to account for similar tales in diverse cultures (e.g., trickster tales).

4RL3.5 Narrative Analysis of Grade-Level-Appropriate Text: Define figurative language (e.g., simile, metaphor, hyperbole, personification) and identify its use in literary works.

The Purest Heart
A Story from China

In a forest in China, there lived a snake. The snake had a beautiful garden of flowers. One day the snake caught Chow Wing gathering the snake’s flowers for his three daughters. The snake was angry. “Chow Wing,” he hissed, “you must give me one of your daughters as a wife.” Frightened, the man agreed.

At home, Chow Wing grew sick with worry. He could neither eat nor sleep.

“Please eat, Father,” said his eldest daughter, Hua.

“I am too worried,” he said. “Hua, will you marry the snake and save us?”

“You cannot ask me to marry a snake, Father!” said Hua, laughing. “He is so ugly, and I am beautiful. Everyone says so.”

Next he turned to Fung, his middle daughter. “Fung, will you marry the snake?”

“Dearest Father,” said Fung, sighing deeply. “This snake is so harsh. I cannot!”

The youngest daughter, Tao, stepped forward. “I will marry the snake,” she said.

In the forest some days later, sweet Tao married the snake. She became a good wife, cleaning and cooking and always being kind and respectful to her husband.

One scorching summer afternoon, Tao returned from collecting water to find the snake dying from thirst. Quickly she plunged him into the cool water that she had brought. Before her eyes, he began to grow and change. When he had completed this change, he was a strong and handsome young man!

“Tao,” he said. “A spell changed me into an ugly snake, but your love and kindness changed me back into my real self.”

The happy couple visited Chow Wing, Hua, and Fung. How amazed they were! The sisters also felt pangs of envy, now that Tao was married to such a fine young man. Deep in their hearts, though, they knew that she was the one of pure heart, the only one who could have broken the evil spell.
In an Indonesian jungle lived an old woman who had raised a lizard as if he were her son. One day the lizard said, “Please go to the house of seven sisters. Ask if one of the sisters will marry me.”

The old woman went to the seven single sisters’ house and asked the oldest to marry the lizard. The young woman laughed, saying, “Who would marry a lizard?”

Each day for a week, the old woman returned with bridal gifts and the marriage offer. One by one, six of the seven sisters refused. Finally she came to the youngest sister, Kapapitoe. “I will marry him,” she said. A week later, the old woman returned with the bridal gifts and the lizard in a basket.

The six older sisters were cruel to Kapapitoe’s lizard husband. After working in the jungle all day, they would clean their feet on his scaly back. As the planting feast of Ta Datoe approached, they said to him, “You may not go to this feast, for you are an ugly lizard.” Kapapitoe was kind to her husband and hated the way her sisters treated him. As the youngest, though, she had no power over them.

The day before the feast, the lizard asked his wife to carry him into the jungle. There he used his long, slashing tail to cut trees and grass until he had cleared a field for planting. “There, now they will surely let me go to the planting feast tomorrow!” he said to Kapapitoe. Remaining cruel, the six sisters told him he was too revolting to be seen in their company.

On the day of the feast, Kapapitoe was ready to go to the river and wash. “Please take me to the river with you,” said her husband, and so she did. The lizard went into the water. When he came out, he was a handsome young man dressed in fine clothes!

At the feast everyone asked, “Who is that handsome man with Kapapitoe?”

The old woman smiled and said, “It is her husband.”

Oh, how jealous those six sisters were! They tried time and time again to steal Kapapitoe’s husband from her, but he loved only his wife.

Kauai Island

SAMPLE A

Kauai is the fourth largest island in Hawaii. Hawaii became the 50th state in 1959. Hawaii consists of eight major islands, in addition to more than a hundred smaller ones, and is located in the middle of the North Pacific Ocean. Kauai, located northwest of Oahu, is called the Garden Island. It was formed by volcanic activity and has many mountains and canyons. Because of its dramatic beauty, it has been used as a setting for motion pictures such as South Pacific, King Kong, and Jurassic Park. Crops produced on Kauai include sugar cane, coffee, tropical fruits, and taro root, from which the Hawaiian dish poi is made. Kauai was an independent royal land until it became a part of the kingdom of Hawaii in 1810.

SAMPLE B

June 25, 1999

I had an amazing experience on the northern shore of Kauai today. We swam with Pacific Green Sea Turtles. They are called honu in Hawaii and are a symbol of knowledge and long life. A special guide took us to the protective reefs where the turtles spend time. Under her guidance, we learned how to use the snorkeling equipment that allowed us to be underwater and breathe air from above through a tube. But snorkeling wasn’t all she knew about! She was a marine biologist, so she knew all about the creatures of the ocean. She led us safely through our adventure and told us many interesting things about what we saw. When I saw the first turtle, my heart was pounding. I was so excited! We were not allowed to touch them, but it was enough just to be near these gentle and graceful creatures. We swam among thousands of colorful fish, and we saw octopuses and eels. What a special day!

A Tip o’ the Hat
A Tale from Ireland

1 Times were hard for Grady O’Hara’s family in Donegal, Ireland. For months they had lived on porridge alone. One day Maggie O’Hara said to her husband, “Grady, you must find work before we all starve.”

2 Grady traveled many miles, yet he found no work. Weary, he rested against a hill covered in soft green clover. As he dozed, Grady began to hear music. It seemed to be coming from within the hill. Parting the clover, Grady discovered a cave opening just big enough to squeeze his body through. The wee cave was full of fairies. This was good, for in Ireland fairies must give a gift to a human who finds them.

3 The fairies offered Grady a fine iron pot. “Placed over fire,” said their leader, “it instantly fills with food. Go now, but tell no one of your luck.”

4 Grady headed home, but darkness soon fell. He came to a farmhouse and asked the owners if he could stay there overnight. The Hanahans, who lived there, said he could stay, but a few potatoes were all they had for dinner. Well, Grady’s hunger was as fierce as a lion’s. He couldn’t help showing off his new pot. They all enjoyed a grand dinner, and Grady went to bed with a full stomach.

5 The next morning, Grady went home. He wanted to show his family the pot and to feed everyone a great meal. When he put the pot over the fire, though, nothing happened. Looking closely, Grady realized that it was not the same pot! As he had slept soundly, the Hanahans had traded their pot for his.

6 Grady went to the fairies, and they agreed to trick the Hanahans. The fairies gave Grady an ugly green hat and sent him back to the farm. There, before going to bed, he boasted that the hat was very special. Sure enough, they took it from him.

7 As they tipped it over to look inside, several fairies jumped out and began playing ear-piercing music. The Hanahans held their hands over their ears.

8 “They won’t stop playing until you give me back my pot,” said Grady.

9 Grady went home with his hat and his pot. He held a fantastic feast for his family and all the neighbors. None of them overstayed their welcome, though. They all had heard what happened when Grady tipped his hat!
The Lucky Cloak
A Tale from Italy

1 Signor Luna and his son, Antonio, lived in a small town in Italy. One day, the old man decided that Antonio should go out into the world and seek his fortune. Calling his son to him, he presented a battered old cloak with one small pocket.

2 “How can this old cloak help me?” asked Antonio.

3 “You’ll see,” said his father. “Put it on and reach into the pocket.”

4 Antonio did so, and out came a silver coin. “A coin will appear whenever you need one,” Signor Luna said, “but that is not all. Button the cloak now.”

5 When Antonio buttoned the cloak’s last button, he instantly became invisible! With the cloak and his father’s good wishes, the young man went on his way.

6 After walking what seemed like a very long distance, Antonio entered a small town with two cafés on the cobblestone street. Antonio saw a pretty young woman in one of them, sitting alone.

7 “May I join you, Signorina?” he asked with a polite little bow.

8 “No,” she said, “for I can see by your tattered cloak that you are a poor man. I fear that you cannot afford to buy your meal.”

9 Antonio’s pride was injured. To repair the damage, he pulled out a coin and told the girl about the special pocket. Of course, she invited him to sit at her table.

10 With coins pulled from the cloak, Antonio bought a fine dinner for the young woman and himself. After they had eaten, she began to complain of the cold. He took his cloak and placed it upon her shoulders. How puzzled he was when she held it tightly around herself and said, “Now this cloak belongs to me!”

11 Thinking quickly, Antonio said, “Wait! I’ll show you something even more wonderful about that cloak. You will be truly amazed.” With some hesitation, she removed the cloak and handed it back to Antonio.

12 “The best thing about this cloak is that when you button it—” Suddenly, Antonio was nowhere to be seen! He had disappeared. Unseen, he slipped away, glad to have regained the cloak and to have gained some valuable wisdom.

Read these four passages about avocados. Think about how the passages are alike and how they are different.

Avocados

SAMPLE A

Avocado (ä´-vō-kä´-dō, ä´-vō´) n., pl. -dos. 1. An American tree, native to tropical regions, which bears an edible fruit that is enjoyed alone or in dishes such as salads. 2. This tree’s fruit is oval or pear-shaped and has leathery green, purple, or black skin, soft yellow-green flesh, and a large pit. 3. A dull green color. [The American Spanish changed the Nahuatl (language of the Aztecs) word ahuacatl to aguacate.]

SAMPLE B

Guacamole is a Mexican dipping or topping sauce. It doesn’t stay fresh very long, so just make what you need for the day. You will need two or three ripe avocados, depending on how much you want to make. A ripe avocado feels slightly soft.

First, cut the avocados in half, remove the pits, and scoop out the inside of the fruit pulp into a bowl. Then mash the pulp with a fork. You don’t have to make it smooth. You should still have some small chunks of avocado. Next, mix in a tablespoon of lemon or lime juice and a tablespoon of chopped fresh cilantro for each avocado you’re using. (For example, if you’re using two avocados, add two tablespoons of juice and two tablespoons of cilantro.) Add a little salt too.

The other ingredients that you add depend on what you like. You might want to add mild chopped green chiles that come in a can. If you like food that is hot and spicy, you can add chopped fresh jalapeño peppers. Some people enjoy adding things like chopped green onions, diced fresh tomatoes, garlic, or hot pepper sauce.

After adding the ingredients of your choice, bring out a bowl of tortilla chips and start dipping!
SAMPLE C

Avocado

Common name for the tree Persea americana, a type of laurel tree. It is native to tropical America. Its fruit, of the same name, has a thick, rough, greenish skin. It is a drupe fruit, or stone fruit, meaning that it is fleshy inside and contains a single large, hard pit. (Other examples of drupe fruits are cherries, peaches, and plums.) An avocado is similar to a pear in size and shape. When avocado flesh is ripe, it has a creamy texture, like firm butter, and a faintly nutlike flavor. It contains 10 to 20 percent oil. In addition to this high fat content, avocados are also a good source of protein. In the United States, avocados are often eaten in salads and sandwiches. In Latin America, avocados are often an ingredient in soups and sauces. There are many avocado trees grown in the southern United States.

Long ago, when the world was new, Beaver had a long, thin tail. He loved to dive, but his long tail didn’t help him get to the bottom of the pond fast enough. He couldn’t use his tail to slap the mud into place when he built a dam.

One day, Muskrat swam by. Beaver noticed Muskrat’s broad, flat tail. He realized it would be perfect for diving and building dams. At the same time, Muskrat gazed enviously at Beaver’s tail. Muskrat loved to swim fast, and his broad, flat tail dragged in the water and slowed him down. He thought it would be better to have Beaver’s tail. So Muskrat said, “Beaver, I would do anything to have a tail like yours.”

“Is that so?” replied Beaver. “I was just admiring your tail. Why don’t we trade?”

Muskrat eagerly agreed, and they exchanged tails right then and there. Muskrat couldn’t wait to try his new long, thin tail. He was pleased as could be when he shot across the pond with great speed. Then he watched as Beaver showed off his new tricks. Beaver easily dove to the bottom of the pond with his new broad, flat tail. He gathered some mud, swam up, and with a loud smack! slapped it onto his dam. When he felt danger was nearby, a loud smack! would be heard as Beaver slapped his tail on the water. It was his way of warning others to keep away.

Muskrat was jealous. He had never even dreamed of the clever ways Beaver had thought to use the broad, flat tail. Muskrat went to Beaver and said, “I want my tail back!” Beaver wasn’t about to give it up. His only answer was a loud smack!

Muskrat knew better than to ask again. To this day, Beaver still has the broad, flat tail he got from Muskrat, and Muskrat has the long, thin one he got from Beaver.

Long ago, Monkey loved to play tricks. He’d pull Rabbit’s ears or yank Cat’s tail and then hoot and holler until his belly hurt. All the animals were tired of being laughed at. They were fed up with Monkey’s tricks.

One day, while Monkey was taking a nap, several animals rolled a big stone onto his tail. Monkey yanked and pulled, trying to get his tail free. At last, he gave such a hard jerk that his tail broke off!

Cat grabbed the tail and scurried away. Monkey knew he needed his tail to climb trees. He chased after Cat and begged, “Please give me my tail back. I’ll do whatever you ask.”

Cat thought about it and replied, “I’ll give it to you, if you’ll get me some milk from Cow.”

So Monkey went to Cow and asked, “Cow, please give me some milk, so I can give it to Cat, so she’ll give me my tail back.”

Cow thought about it and replied, “I’ll give it to you, if you’ll get me some grass from the farmer.”

So Monkey went to the farmer and begged, “Farmer, please give me some grass, so I can give it to Cow, so she’ll give me some milk, so I can give it to Cat, so she’ll give me my tail back.”

The farmer thought about it and replied, “I’ll give it to you, if you’ll get me some rain from the cloud.”

So Monkey went to the cloud and asked, “Cloud, please give me some rain, so I can give it to the farmer, so he’ll give me some grass, so I can give it to Cow, so she’ll give me some milk, so I can give it to Cat, so she’ll give me my tail back.”

The cloud thought about it and replied, “I’ll give it to you, if you’ll get me some water from the river.”

So Monkey went to the river and asked, “River, please give me some water, so I can give it to the cloud, so he’ll give me some rain, so I can give it to the farmer, so he’ll give me some grass, so I can give it to Cow, so she’ll give me some milk, so I can give it to Cat, so she’ll give me my tail back.”

The river thought about it and replied, “Help yourself. I have plenty of water to spare.”

Monkey thanked the river again and again. Then he brought some water to the cloud, and the cloud gave him rain. He brought the rain to the farmer, who gave him grass. He brought the grass to Cow, who gave him milk, and he brought the milk to Cat, who gave him his tail back.

Monkey was overjoyed! Although he no longer plays tricks on the other animals, you can still hear him hooting and hollering in the jungle. Monkey’s laughing because he’s so happy to have his tail back.

Make Your Own Leaf Collection Record

It’s fun to collect things. Some kids collect coins, shells, or stamps. One thing that is easy and free to collect is leaves. Leaves come in many shapes and colors. Every type of tree has its own special leaf. Willows have narrow leaves with edges like little saws. Maple leaves have many sharp points, and oak leaves have many rounded tips.

Now you can use your drawing or word processing program to start a Leaf Collection Record Book.

1. Open a new file in your word processing program.
2. Type “LEAF COLLECTION RECORD” and center it on the top of the page. Make it bold and underline it.
3. Type “Name:” and then press ENTER about three times. You will put the names of the trees you collect leaves from here.
4. Now type “Description:” and press ENTER about ten times. This is where you will describe the tree that had the leaf. Be sure to leave plenty of room.
5. Click the square tool. Make a box for your leaf. This is where you will show the leaves you collect.
6. Print enough pages to begin your book.
7. Save the file with a name such as Leaf Record. You may need to print more pages later!
8. Punch holes in the left side of the pages, and put them in a three-ring binder, or tie them together with string.
9. There are two ways to put leaves in the box:
   • Draw a picture of the leaf.
   • Paste a real leaf in the center of the box.

Happy collecting!

Got Paper? Thank the Chinese

1. Most of us take paper for granted although we use it all the time. We use it to clean. We paint it and decorate with it. We wrap presents in it and fold it into many shapes. Practically everything we read or write is on it. We even fly it. Most of us, however, never consider how paper came to be.

2. The Chinese discovered how to make paper thousands of years ago. They used thin layers of wet fibers. These fibers came from materials such as bamboo, jute, and straw. The Chinese also used fibers from rags.

3. Paper gets its name from the Egyptians. They made paper-like sheets from the papyrus plant. The Arabs learned how to make paper from the Chinese. They introduced paper to Europeans during the 1200s. The first paper mill was built in Italy in 1270. It wasn’t until 1690 that the first paper mill was built in the United States. This mill was located in Germantown, Pennsylvania.

4. Today logs that aren’t good for lumber are often used to make paper. Wood pulp is the main ingredient in making paper. Sometimes minerals are also added. The minerals help improve the quality of the paper. They make it smoother and easier to print on.

5. In spite of computers, radio, and television, the demand for paper products is still great. Seventy-one million tons of paper are used in the United States each year. The United States, in fact, is one of the top three paper-producing countries in the world.

6. Little did the Chinese know that their discovery would be around for such a long time. The paper we use today doesn’t look much like the paper the Chinese made. It isn’t even made the same way. However, paper is an invention we couldn’t do without.
If Carrie added a sentence at the end of paragraph 5, it would most likely tell us
A the other two top paper-producing countries.
B which minerals are now added to wood pulp.
C how paper is used in the radio and television industries.
D what role paper will have in the new computer age.

What detail should Carrie add to improve her report?
A China is the largest country in the world.
B Germantown, Pennsylvania, is located near Philadelphia.
C Egypt is located on the continent of Africa.
D Chemical additives have also helped paper last longer.

If Carrie quotes an article when writing her report, her bibliography should include all of these except the
A title of the article.
B page number of the article.
C author who wrote the article.
D date she read the article.
A Swiss Clock Tower

Mrs. Delaney’s class is studying time. She has asked the students to write brief reports about interesting clocks around the world. Annika has heard that the Swiss are famous for their fine clocks. She wonders if there is a clock tower in Switzerland, like England’s Big Ben, that she could write about. She is at the school library doing research for her report.

Annika is using the school computer to do online research for her report. What words should she type into the Search box?

A  Switzerland + clock + tower
B  visit + Switzerland + time
C  Big + Ben + tower
D  clock + England + history

Annika has found a magazine called Timepieces. Where should she look to see if there are any articles on Swiss clock towers?

A  the list of editors’ names
B  the table of contents
C  the title page
D  the Letters to the Editor section
Read this first draft of Annika’s report. It contains errors.

A Swiss Clock Tower

Clocks come in many different sizes and forms. There are wristwatches, alarm clocks, mantel clocks, and tall grandfather clocks. Clocks can come in just about any shape. My little sister, for example, has a cat clock with a swinging tail and eyes that move from side to side. Clocks also make different kinds of sounds. Uncle David, a bird watcher, has a clock that has a picture of a different bird at each number. Each bird sings its song when its hour arrives. There are also clocks that buzz, ring, and honk.

There are some clocks that are clearly outstanding: clock towers! The one that usually comes to mind is Big Ben, in London, England. However, there are others. The Swiss, who are famous for their well-made clocks, have their own clock tower. It is located in their lovely capital city, Bern.

The Swiss clock tower didn’t always have a clock in it. In dangerous times, the tower was located somewhere else. It was at the edge of town. From the tall tower, a patient watchman looked for anyone who might attack the town. When things settled down, the tower was moved into the town, and a clock was placed inside it.

Anyone who visits Bern should be at the tower a few minutes before the hour to see a great show. First, a rooster crows and flaps its wings. Next, several bears march around Father Time. It is Father Time who reports the hour. Each time the clock strikes, he opens his mouth and turns over an hourglass in his hand. While he does this, one of the bears stands beside him nodding its head up and down. The bear’s head is also counting the hours with its nods. Finally, the happy rooster ends the show by crowing and flapping its wings again.
In paragraph 1, why does Annika mention her sister’s and her uncle’s clocks?

A to give examples of unusual kinds of clocks that are made today
B to show that people of all ages, even young children, can have clocks
C to show that animals are an important part of the second paragraph
D to share personal details about her family and friends in her report

Read these sentences from paragraph 3 of Annika’s rough draft.

In dangerous times, the tower was located somewhere else. It was at the edge of town.

How can these sentences best be joined without changing the meaning?

A In dangerous times, the tower was somewhere else it was at the edge of town.
B In dangerous times, the tower was located at the edge of town.
C In dangerous times somewhere else, the tower was at the edge of town.
D In dangerous times, the tower was located at the edge of somewhere else.

Annika found the following article titles in a magazine. Which article would best help her with her report?

A “The History of Big Ben”
B “How the Swiss Make Watches”
C “Clock Towers in Many Countries”
D “A Museum of Clocks”
Mr. Campbell has asked the students in his class to write reports about a sport. Penelope wants to write about a sport called orienteering.

Here is the rough draft of Penelope’s report. It contains errors.

Orienteering

1. If you were given nothing but a map and a compass, could you find your way through an outdoor course? Orienteers can. Orienteering is a sport in which individuals or teams must complete a course, stopping at certain marked points along the way. They use a special map and compass.

2. Orienteering maps are special because they are topographic maps. A topographic map is a type of map that shows the shape of the land, from hills to trees to streams. Special colors are used to mark different parts of the map. Black areas are man-made, like roads, trails, and fences. Brown shows highs and lows, like hills and valleys. Blue marks water areas such as lakes, ponds, swamps, and streams. White shows where forests are, and yellow is for clearings and fields. Green marks thick bushes or thorns.

3. By reading these special maps and using a compass, orienteers travel from one “control” spot to another. Control spots are circled on the map, and they are also marked by orange and white flags on the course. To complete a course successfully, you must find each control marker in a specific order.

4. Orienteering is an interesting way to practice your map skills and your sense of direction. There are easy courses for beginners and more difficult courses for people who have had more experience. The magazine orienteering in north america also gives some extra tips and information. There are even orienteering competitions!
Penelope wants to know what the word topographic means. If she has a reference book on orienteering, where would be the best place for her to look?

A the table of contents
B the glossary
C the index
D the preface

Read this sentence.

The magazine orienteering in north america also gives some extra tips and information.

Which is the correct way to capitalize the title of the magazine in the sentence?

A orienteering in North America
B Orienteering in north america
C Orienteering in North America
D Orienteering In North America

If Penelope wanted to add a paragraph about different places people go orienteering, which of the following would be the best topic sentence?

A People use such a large amount of supplies in orienteering, you may not find them all in one place.
B Many orienteering contests are held every year in the United States.
C People can choose many areas across the country that are perfect for orienteering.
D Since they are often alone, orienteers should follow safety rules.

(7) He had no idea that his orange tree would one day be a part of Florida's multi-billion-dollar citrus industry. (8) Today Florida has almost 11 million citrus trees.

(9) Oranges and other forms of citrus fruit, like grapefruit, fill many of the body's needs. (10) They are high in fiber and a good source of vitamins, especially vitamin C. (11) Whether we drink orange juice or eat the fruit whole, oranges are tasty. (12) That's probably why each person in the United States eats about twelve pounds of citrus fruit every year.

(13) We can surely be thankful to the early explorers for giving us our golden fruit.
What is the correct way to write the underlined word in sentence 5?
