A Parade of Stars

By Katie, 4th Grade Reporter from Room 24

Knollwood Elementary had its annual Halloween Parade. The students were dressed in many creative costumes like Pinocchio, a Pokémon card, robots, a tornado, princesses, rock stars and superheroes. There were 4 winners from each grade level that got an award and prize. The PTA was in charge of the school event and gave goody bags to each student. My favorite part was marching around with my classmates. We can't wait until next year's Halloween Parade. (See pages 2 and 7 for more pictures)

Knollwood Stepping Up to the Challenge

By Spencir, 5th Grade Reporter from Room 23

What were those small black objects clipped to the waists of the Knollwood students? Pedometers, of course! During the week of September 22nd, the YMCA had a national program called America on the Move. Children across the nation wore pedometers every day during that week to count how many steps they took. They were doing this because kids across the country need to exercise to stay healthy and fit. Instead of playing video games, we should go outside and do something active! This is the second year Knollwood has participated in this program. Last year, our school took the most steps according to our pedometers, and won over the local schools in the area. This year, Castle Bay Elementary had the most, but next year, we are going to make a comeback. So, Knollwood... Get out there and get ACTIVE!

Here are some quotes from Room 11's 2nd Graders

Jisell: "If you are not healthy, then even your brain is not as strong or smart. Exercising is good for your body and your brain too! We even stretch in class to help the blood move faster to our brains to help us think faster. Being healthy helps us to do our work."

Freddie: "It is important to exercise so that you don't get diabetes. If you're not healthy, then you aren't in shape and can't do the things you like."

Ryan: "Walking and running are good so you can stay healthy. I like to play kickball and soccer."

A reporter from the Los Angeles Times visited our school and interviewed some of our students. To see the link to the article from the LA Times visit our school website at http://www.lausd.net/Knollwood_EL/.

COHEN'S CORNER

So we had a wonderful display of witches, goblins and princesses at the Halloween Parade! A great job was done by our PTA Board in keeping our parade moving and fun. Thanks to all that helped with the goodie bags, getting students ready in their costumes and everyone who enjoyed the parade.

As you will see in our Upcoming Events section, this is a very busy time of the year. Please remember that you can also check out our web site at www.lausd.net.k12.ca.us/Knollwood_EI/ for up to date information.

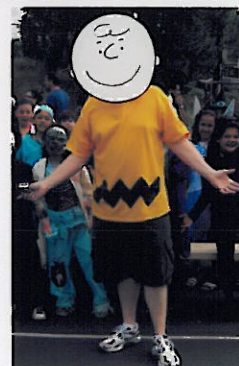

We came in 2nd place in the YMCA America on the Move contest. We are invited to an evening at the YMCA in Porter Ranch on Nov. 8th from 6:30 until 9pm. This will be a great time to come to the Y and see all they have to offer. Also, bring your swimsuits and enjoy the pool area. Next year we will need to walk further to earn back our #1 standing!!!

I must write about traffic safety around our school. All first through fifth graders are to be dropped off and picked up at the back gate. Only K and PreK parents should be parking on Gerald and Midwood. I have witnessed parents making illegal U turns; coming into the staff parking lot, double parking and sending the kids across traffic to the school side of the street. Please, we must be good neighbors. Do not pull into the driveways, do not block a driveway and do not throw trash on the lawns or in the street. All Kindergarteners need to have an adult walk them in. Supervision on the yard is from 7:40; do not drop kids off earlier. If you need to get to work earlier, stop by the YMCA bungalow and find out about what they offer in the way of early morning care. The back gate is open at 7:40. If you come at that time there is not a lot of traffic and you can be in and out quickly! Afternoon pick up is also a nightmare. The children are to wait inside the gate until they see you pull up. Again, if you want to walk in, park legally and come in. Plan to come at 2:45 there is not as much traffic just 15 minutes later!

We will be starting our Accelerated Reading program soon. It is taking us a while to get started. Look for more information soon. Hope to see many of you at our Parent Council Meetings or our PTA Meetings. Make some time in your busy schedules to join us.

Enjoy the season!

Barbara Teller Cohen, Principal

Students of the Month

Every month, two students from each classroom are recognized for their academic performance or citizenship. Here are the October Students of the Month announced at the Monday morning assembly. Congratulations and Keep up the good work!

5th Grade Scientists Make 'Boo Bubbles'

By Kenna, 5th Grade Reporter- Room 23

A couple of weeks ago, the 5th grade classes had a wonderful time playing with dry ice. Dry ice is not actually ice, it is frozen carbon dioxide (CO₂) gas. It is called "dry ice" because it does not melt like regular ice. Dry ice "sublimates." That means it turns from a frozen solid to a gas. We made "boo bubbles" which are really soap bubbles filled with swirling white water vapor and CO₂ gas. Everyone enjoyed making smoke that fell to the ground because CO₂ gas is heavier than air. When you add soap to dry ice in hot water, a large mountain of bubbles grows and when you pop the bubbles, smoke comes out. We looked like a bunch of mad scientists working in our lab!

SAILING THROUGH HISTORY

By Stephanie, 2nd Grade Reporter from Room 18

In Room, 18 we made a play about Christopher Columbus. He was an important person because he sailed across the ocean and then landed at America. He was trying to show that the world round. There were three ships he took from Spain across the Atlantic Ocean. The ships were called The Nina, The Pinta and The Santa Maria. He landed in the Americas in 1492.

We practiced a lot to do this play for the school. Mrs. Lynne, our teacher, helped us to make the posters and the boats. My favorite part was when we each made our own little ships in class. We also learned a song called "This is My Country." It is important to learn about history and to do plays. Doing the play helped us to remember what we learned. We should read about history so that we can remember the past.

Helping Our Environment and School

By Tatiana, 5th Grade Reporter from Room 23

Knollwood is participating in a few different recycling programs. One is a Walmart program where we collect plastic bags and receive money back. Any type of plastic bag, except black, is accepted. The other program is for recycling printer ink cartridges. Students can turn the bags or ink cartridges in to their teacher or to the office. The money we receive from these

Please Bring in These Items:

- Plastic Bags
- Used Ink Cartridges
- Campbell's Labels
- Box Tops

Thank You!

recycling programs is used to purchase Knollwood folders for the younger grades and school planners for the upper grades. Other educational supplies are also bought using this money. You can even help by looking at what's in your cupboard in the kitchen. Campbell's brand labels and Box Tops are also being collected in the office. These are also turned in for money for school supplies. Mrs. Cohen said that our school is at the beginning steps of recycling and we are getting better. Most classrooms have a recycling basket for paper. I think that recycling is good because we not only help the community and environment, but we help our school too!

Everyone's A Writer

By Rebecca, 4th Grade Reporter from Room 24

"It's important to be a good writer because no matter what you do in life- you need to write!" Karen Winnick

On October 16th, Karen Winnick, an author and illustrator of children's books, came to visit our school. She explained how she made her books and the writing process. She said it took her many drafts before she got each book right. The way she does her writing process is the same as how we do it in class. She starts with an idea, then writes it, edits and rewrites it, then finally, she gets it published. Like for the book Mr. Lincoln's Whiskers, she used history and then added her imagination to fill in the other parts. This is called historical fiction. She went to a library to do research about history and how they even dressed and acted at that time. She said when she was our age she would write lots of stories just like us. My favorite part was when she read us her stories and showed us her pictures. We got to learn from it. She said, "If you want to be an author, you need to practice a lot just like anything else. Just like a sport- you keep practicing. As an author, you keep writing. It's important to be a good writer because no matter what you do in life- you need to write!" She showed us her sketches, drafts, how a hard cover book is made, the inside cover, and designs as well. For one of her inside covers, she used a copy of a paper from the 1800s. At the end, she answered questions and even autographed books. We learned a lot!

Ice Cream Anyone?

By Chris, 5th Grade Reporter from Room 28

There were over 300 people at the PTA Ice Cream Social on September 18th at Knollwood Elementary. Can you believe it! It was so much fun. Everyone was eating a lot of vanilla ice cream with sundae toppings. People won prizes too by answering math problems (thanks to Huntington Learning Center). Many teachers were there as well as our assistant principal, Mrs. Moreno-Lee, and principal, Mrs. Cohen. Everyone talked, played and had fun. We should do this every year!

Plants and Minds Growing

By Michael M., 5th Grade Reporter from Room 23

I recently interviewed Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Hernandez's Kindergarten class (Room 10) on the new things planted around Knollwood. The first interview was with our principal (Mrs. Cohen) on the new trees planted around the school. I asked if it was her decision to plant the trees or was it LA Unified's. She answered that it was neither, but that it was an non-profit organization called North East Trees. They offered the trees to the school and Mrs. Cohen accepted. There were about 8-10 trees planted around the school this past summer. Can you find them all? She mentioned that the trees planted were Oak trees and that these will give the school shade as well as help the air quality. The principal has planted a tree herself and said the school will plant trees every two to three years. After I interviewed Mrs. Cohen, I interviewed Nadia and Jeremy from Kindergarten (Room 10). Their class was planting carrots, beans and peas. So far the carrots and peas have sprouted. Jeremy said, "My favorite part was when we made the hole and I put the seeds in for the carrots. Mrs. Potter waters our plants. I hope when my little brother comes here to Kindergarten that he will get to do this too." Nadia said, "All of our classmates put the seeds in the dirt and we got dirty! We watch them grow everyday. We have learned how to grow things!" Finally, I got to interview Mrs. Potter, a parent volunteer who was teaching the students how to plant a garden. She said that she likes to see them surprised when they find a carrot underground and see the peas in the pod. It helps them understand where food comes from and to have patience when growing a garden. Overall, the kindergarteners had a great time digging. I think that planting these things at Knollwood will make Knollwood a much 'greener' school!

Kindergarteners from Room 10 enthusiastically digging

James and the Giant Peach

By Kaitlyn, 3rd Grade Reporter from Room 3

The James and the Giant Peach assembly was a very good play. My favorite part of the play was when James put the spider webs on the seagulls and flew off on the giant peach. My friends in my class enjoyed James and the Giant Peach and they could not stop talking about how funny it was. Gavin From Room 6: "The actors used different voices and sang songs too. My favorite actor was the spider and she was just like the movie. We wrote thank you letters to the actors." Aileen From Room 6: "Our teacher read us the chapter book. It was fun to go to the assembly. We learned and had fun at the same time." (This assembly was funded by the PTA)

Are You a Member?

Knollwood had a successful PTA Membership Drive this year. We had over 410 members sign up during the contest period. You can still join the PTA, membership applications are in the office. Here are the contest results:

Website Update

Don't forget to check out our school website that is continually being updated. It is new this year and some parts of it are still under construction. There is a lot of school, grade level and curriculum information provided. Links and tips are also included. Enjoy exploring the new website at www.lausd.net/Knollwood_EL/.

Thank You "On the Border"

At the PTA Meeting for October- besides getting a free dinner for all (including kids)- there was an extra surprise. All attending received free kid's meal certificates to the Mexican restaurant, "On the Border" (next to the Northridge Mall). Thank You!

Thank You Woodland Hills Printing for your services.

Kindergarten Performs for a Packed House

On October 30th, Mrs. Susman's Kindergarten Class (Room 12) had a performance. They created a book called Into the Night which they read aloud. The group also performed some Halloween/Fall poems and songs for the group. Room 12 was packed with proud parents, families, and friends enjoying the show. The kindergarteners have worked on reading, counting, illustrating, memorizing, and singing. Great job Room 12- we are all very proud of you and your hard work!

The Secrets of Droon Under the Serpent Sea

By Tony Abbott

Reviewed by Tammie (5th Grade Reporter, Room 24)

This is a good book if you like adventures. There are these three children (Eric, Neal, and Julie). They have to go to a magical place called Droon and get the Red Eye which is a special jewel from Demither. Whoever possesses the jewel can control the world! The children will do anything to help Keeah, the children's friend. Will they get the jewel away from Demither or not? Read the book to find out what happens.

Climbing to the Top of Mountain Math

By Andrew, 3rd Grade Reporter from Room 3

Mrs. Hoffman's and Mrs. Morales' 3rd grade class is climbing a mountain of multiplication. We are studying our multiplication tables and taking tests on each one. We started with zero's and are stopping at the 12's. I passed the 12's today and was the first person. The 12's were the hardest for me. I kept practicing and then I finally passed them. Each test is one minute for 30 problems. For the 10's, it is 100 problems to be done in 3 minutes. Every time you pass, your name gets moved up on our board that has a picture of a mountain. At the top are the 12's. If you pass the 12's by October 31st, our teacher will buy you a Happy Meal from McDonalds. The first person to pass also gets an ice cream. If the whole class passes by October 31st we will have a field trip to McDonalds and all get Happy Meals. It is fun and easy. You get to learn. When we go to 4th grade and they ask us our multiplication, we will already know it! It's a competition and it is FUN!

DEAR KNOLLWOOD KNIGHT

By The Knollwood Knights (This issue: 5th graders from Room 28—Shannel, Sultan, James, and Melissa)

Dear Knollwood Knights,

There is a student in my class that is bothering me. What should I do?

From,
Tired of Being Bothered

Answer: We have all been through this whether it is a brother or sister, a friend or just another kid. Here are a bunch of ideas we came up with to help you. The first thing you can do is just ignore them. Sometimes they bother you because they WANT to see your reaction. Sometimes when you just walk away or don't pay attention, they will stop. Also, try to not let it bug you so much either and do forget what they say if they are being mean. You know what is true. Another idea is that you can actually tell them how you feel, express your feelings, write a letter or talk it out, or simply tell them to stop. Sometimes they might not even know what they are doing really bothers you. See if there is a pattern. Do they always bug you on a certain part of the playground or when you have something they want. Try to avoid these things and maybe it will stop. Stick with your good friends. Stay close to adults and friends that are nice to you. Talk or write a letter to your parents, teachers, aides, the principal, assistant principal, office staff, and your friends to get help or ideas of what to do. We hope this helps!

If you have a question for our Knollwood Knights and want advice—just drop a note off at Room 28. We can help each other!

A Family Atmosphere

By Pilar, 1st Grade Reporter from Room 17

My mom's name is Rocío and she works in the office at Knollwood. She helps the students, parents, and teachers. My mom likes to work here because of the families. She is good at answering the phones and being helpful. I like that my mom works here because she helps me with my work and she is always near me. This makes me happy.

Rocío has worked at Knollwood for 28 years. She was originally at Kennedy High School, then came to our school as a teaching assistant. Rocío went into special education and then to the office where she works now. She answers phones and helps parents, teachers and the school staff. She is in charge of class attendance, enrollment, school/office information, the spring fundraiser, Box Tops/ Campbell's Soup labels, and much, much more.

Many parents have been asking about a school Year Book so she is making it happen. Rocío says she enjoys working at Knollwood because of its family atmosphere. Thank you Rocío for all you do for our school!

Red Ribbon Week

3rd and 5th Graders- Twin Day

Mr. Rubin's 4th Graders- Knollwood Spirit Day

Mr. Hogrefe's 4th Graders- Athletic Jersey Day

Danielle, 4th Grade Reporter from Room 26

During the 3rd week of October, our school had Red Ribbon Week. I interviewed Mrs. Passerino, a 1st grade teacher, who is the health coordinator for Knollwood Elementary. Red Ribbon Week is nationwide and it is about healthy life choices. It is for kids to learn to only put healthy things in their bodies (not drugs). Red Ribbon Week was started after a Drug Enforcement Officer was killed and it was in honor of his efforts. There were many activities that week. One was dress up like Twins Day because friends don't let friends take drugs. Athletic Jersey Day was another because athletes make good healthy choices. The other days were Wear Red Day, Hat Day, and Knollwood T-Shirt Day. There are other healthy programs the school will do this year. In November, there is the Great American Smoke Out Day to learn about how smoking is unhealthy. In January, we have the Jump Rope for Heart that helps to raise money for the American Heart Association. I hope that all the kids at Knollwood Elementary will make healthy choices for the rest of their lives.

From our School Librarian...

Mrs. Nelson's Fall Book Fair...the Finest Books in Town!

Excitement was in the air at Knollwood from Oct. 10 to Oct. 17! Our annual Mrs. Nelson's Book Fair was once again the big buzz at school. Why the excitement? An outstanding selection of books and other items that appeal to kids and adults alike! I'm happy to report that strong sales prevailed throughout the week.

The book fair is a win-win event for Knollwood. Our students and parents buy high quality books and at the same time generate profits that are used to purchase new books for our school library. That's why we look forward to the book fair year after year.

A big thank you goes out to our hard-working book fair volunteers. Without them, the book fair would not have been possible. From setting up the fair to closing it down, they were there every step of the way: Erika McAfee, Claudia Romero, Ann Nishimoto, Nancy Mahdavi, Linda Traugher, Verda Bridges Prpich, Jennifer Anderson, Lynn Deng, Margaret Sey, Izumi Worne, Jill Hall, Vera Haddad, Joulana Kaldani, Sharice Nash, Rhonda Elias, Adriana Martinez, Veronika Netter, Delisa Sexton, Richard Uribe, and Tami Wrigley. In addition, I want to thank our student helpers: Taylor Netter, Bijan Mahdavi, Kyanna McAfee and Samantha Garcia.

Last, but not least, an extra special thank you to our excellent Book Fair Volunteer Coordinators, Linda Traugher and Rosemary Ochoa. Linda took on the very time-consuming task of scheduling the volunteers, and Rosemary got in touch with each person to confirm their scheduled time to help. They, along with all the other volunteers, were truly a pleasure to work with!
